

Free
Entry

Proudly Presents
As part of our 1940s Celebrations

The White Moth

An Original Play by Playwright Peter Ross
Performed by The Progressive Players of The Little Theatre

Saturday
29th June
11am and 2pm

Alf Brennan died aged 18, as a top turret gunner in a Lancaster Bomber. His family are struggling to come to terms with their loss. They live in a part of Tyneside where air raids are not expected, but then they are caught up in one...

Sunday 30th
June
12 noon and 2pm

At Bowes Railway in The Pop Up Performance Lounge
(through the small courtyard)

For Enquiries Call: 0785 0916484